Powerplay: Origins of the U.S. Alliance System in Asia ...

In East Asia the United States cultivated a hub and spokes system of discrete, exclusive alliances with the Republic of Korea, the Republic of China, and Japan, a system that was distinct from the multilateral security alliances it preferred in Europe. Bilateralism emerged in East Asia as the dominant security structure because of the powerplay rationale behind U.S. postwar planning in the region.

Powerplay: The Origins of the American Alliance System in ...

In Powerplay, Victor D. Cha addresses the question of why alliance systems in Asia took the form of asymmetric bilateral relationships instead of the multilateral security structure that emerged in Europe. The answer that the author provides is the powerplay – a strategy that the United States exercised to control the behaviour of smaller allies, such as Taiwan, South Korea, and Japan.
