Reflected Learning

Reflection is a huge part of the way I teach physical education. I'm constantly trying to help my students to think about their learning and progress in class. Now, I know some people might think "but aren't you taking away from activity time when you stop class to get the students to reflect?" The answer is: yes.

Education | Reflect to Learn LLC

Now that you have been teaching the ReflectED approach for over a term, your children should be beginning to reflect regularly on their curriculum subjects. We know from our experience at Rosendale that embedding reflecting into your teaching practice and routine takes time, as does teaching children how to write meaningful reflections that are useful for both you and them.
