To show lavish hospitality to our children is welcoming them just as they are. Not only when they are obedient, or loving, or going to bed on time. But, I've found for me, when I'm stressed about not being a good mom (because I've listened to other things besides the Word of God), I take out my unworthiness on my kids.

Lavish Hospitality: 2 | kcreatives

Hospitality began with God in the garden. He created man, offered them the most lavish food and accommodations. He was with them in the garden. He communicated with them. When Adam and Eve sinned, He sent them out of the Garden, but with provision of clothing. When God sent the flood to the world, He provided shelter for one man's family.
